BELIEVE DIX WILL WIN

R. M. Johnston, Democrat, and Wm. Pitt Kellogg, Republican, Agree on That

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—That the Democrats will carry New York for John A. Dix is the undisputed testimony of two politicians of national reputation and diametrically opposite views.

"So far as the political situation in New York State is concerned," said R. M. Johnston, publisher of the Houston Post and Texas member of the Democratic national committee, "nobody appears to doubt that Mr. Dix will be elected."

The other witness was former Governor William Pitt Kellogg of Louisiana, a Republican of the old school, just back from New York.

"From all I have seen and heard," said Mr. Kellogg, "Dix will be the victor in the New York State political fight. It is a remarkable situation, but these are remarkable times, for it is not often that we witness Republicans of prominence repudiating their ticket and its maker, as they are doing in that State. In fact, they are in general throughout the West. I believe, in the end, a reaction appears to be taking place over the people."

"I once thought the West and the South would pull together in matters political. The wave of Bryanism, then the wave of temperance seemed to have both these sections in their grasp. But I have changed my mind about the South in that respect."

That section of our country is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic.

It is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic.

It is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic. It is to be the safety valve of the republic.

SAVE ON ROOSEVELT.

Believes T. R. Has His Eyes on 1916 as Well as 1912

John G. Saxe, Democratic candidate for the Senate in the Seventeenth district, sent a circular letter to the voters yesterday in which he said:

"I desire to reiterate the arraignment against ex-President Roosevelt made by the New York Evening Post and the New York Star. While I am not particularly afraid that Roosevelt may find the American people to the extent of making himself Dictator or Emperor in name, still I do believe that so far as he is sincere he is exclusively for Theodore Roosevelt for President in 1912 and 1916, that he is determined, when elected President, to use the Executive office to usurp the powers of the States as well as the Congress, and that to attain his ambition he is disseminating under the catchword 'new nationalism' every wildcat political theory that has appealed to the masses during the last decade and making vicious attacks upon our Constitution and institutions."

Mr. Saxe wrote that he believed we had too much legislation and that he was against special bills for special interests. He is in favor of the Massachusetts ballot which eliminates straight party voting and requires each voter to make a voting mark for each and every candidate for whom he votes. He is in favor of direct nominations and of official primary ballot. He wants the election law amended so that voters will not be disfranchised because their voting marks may be irregular in character.

"Finally," says Mr. Saxe, "I appeal to the voters of the Seventeenth Senatorial district that a change is needed at Albany, that after years of misrule of the Black Horse Cavalry in the State Senate, carrying on a systematic practice of organized bribery and blackmail to an extent merely indicated by the shocking disclosures in the Allds case and the investigation now in progress, the voters of our Senatorial district should rebuke the Republican party as it exists to-day and send to the Senate this year an honest and energetic Democrat, and I appeal to my friends to prove to the voters of our district that I am honest and that I have sufficient energy and ability to carry out my solemn obligations to my constituents."

Mr. Saxe is a member of the law firm of Worcester, Williams & Saxe of 30 Broad street. He is 33 years old, a son of John Saxe of Albany and a grandson of John G. Saxe the poet. His mother's father was Chief Justice Joseph Bowditch of the Superior Court of New York. In 1905 Mr. Saxe was the Democratic candidate for a judgeship in the Ninth Municipal district and was defeated by a small plurality. He is an authority on the election laws, has looked a rummy on the market of Wall Street and is a member of the Bar Association, of the Manhattan and other clubs and of several societies.

The Seventeenth district spreads out from two to three blocks on each side of Fifth avenue from Eighth street to Ninety-sixth street.

Black and White Effects

Many of the most original coats and sets are in effective combinations of black and white. Coats of Seal, Broadtail or other dark furs have hoods or collars of Ermine or Arctic Fox, or are faced or lined with white Moire Caracul. Handsome sets are shown in Lynx or Sitka Fox made up with White Fox.

The Judy Muff Bag

One of the quaintest and most picturesque designs of the year. The Judy Bag, moderately wide but very deep, is shown in many attractive variations and in a number of furs. It can be made up at short notice to match coats or stoles.

Conservative Models

Practical coats and sets in Seal, Mink, Mole, Broadtail, Persian Lamb, Caracul and other furs. Large and small sets in Russian Sable, Silver Fox, Mink, Ermine, etc. Men's Fur Overcoats. Children's Furs.

CROWDED CITY PRISONS.

Department of Correction Has Its Say at the Budget Show

The Department of Correction had the floor at the budget exhibit yesterday. F. O. Lewis, secretary of the Prison Association, told the audience in the assembly hall about crowded conditions in the city prisons.

"We think the State prisons and reformatories are crowded," said he, "but New York city prisons and workhouses have 54,587 commitments as against 5,132 in the State prison and Elmira Reformatory."

Commissioner Whitney made a speech in which he said that the department asked $1,271,274 for next year, a decrease of $2,176.

The exhibit will be open this afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. Borough President McAneny has sent invitations to the Mayors of neighboring cities asking them to speak at the exhibit next Thursday.

DEMOCRATIC HEART TO BANKERS.

Mr. Seligman Suggests That Col. Roosevelt Should Promote Peace

Isaac N. Seligman, the banker, who returned yesterday from the Hamburg-American liner America, with his son-in-law, Paul Warburg, said he was a great admirer of Roosevelt, but that he believed the Colonel should not have linked Wall Street with Tammany Hall in his campaign speeches. Mr. Seligman suggested that Col. Roosevelt should use his influence to promote peace and good feeling in the financial and commercial world. The bankers, Mr. Seligman added, would welcome the Democratic party into power.
